

The sales vs return chart is going to show you a more in depth look at the return rate per category but goes into detail with the subcategory breakdown showing the sales and the average return rate for the specific item.

